He Turned My Mourning Into Dancing

by BILL MARKHAM

Co-Host, The 700 Club Canada

You have turned for me my mourning into dancing; You have put off my sackcloth and clothed me with gladness (Psalm 30:11 NKJV).

It has been a difficult season. A young man from our church family, and a close family friend, passed away suddenly. Then devastating floods swept through Niagara, damaging many homes, including mine. As I pulled up ruined carpet and damaged drywall, grief and frustration could have taken over.

Instead, something unexpected happened. The Spirit of God met me. He did not remove the pain, but He changed my perspective. Jesus said, "In this world you will have trouble. But take heart! I have overcome the world" (John 16:33 NIV). Those words became an anchor. I was reminded that God is with us in every storm and is working to restore all creation to His intended purpose. The young man for whom we grieve is with Jesus. That is not wishful thinking; it is hope anchored in the death and resurrection of Christ. My home will be repaired. And even in the damage, I have seen God at work through family, friends, and our church community surrounding one another with love and support. What looked like a setback became an opportunity to witness God's faithfulness.

Perhaps you are facing your own storm today. Invite the Holy Spirit into your grief, disappointment, and uncertainty. Ask Him to reveal His presence. Your hope is not anchored in what you see, but in the One who sees you. Sometimes God changes our circumstances. Sometimes He changes us in the middle of them. Either way, He is making all things new.

Finding Joy in the Journey

by Kellin Gibson

Writer and Editor, CBN

It wasn't the first time a conversation with my father had left me feeling like there was so much more to say. When I would call him on the phone, I would always share my latest endeavours, hoping he'd share in my enthusiasm. But more than anything, I longed to spend quality time together.

Over time, I've come to see that my father expresses his affection by what he does rather than what he says, and I needed God's help to better understand that everyone loves differently.

Still, I wrestled with unresolved feelings. But healing began when God helped me to see all the admirable qualities my father possessed—like how faithfully he had provided for me over the years and his willingness to be at my side whenever I needed him. One day, the Lord brought to mind one of the most powerful scenes in the New Testament.

During His crucifixion, Jesus witnessed people filled with derision instead of gratitude. Even the high priests mocked Him, saying, "So he is the King of Israel, is he? Let him come down from the cross right now, and we will believe in him!" (Matthew 27:42 NLT)

Despite all He had gone through, Jesus responded: "Father, forgive them, for they don't know what they are doing" (Luke 23:34).

Although relationships can be messy, we can always surrender our pain to God and trust Him to mend what's broken. Bestowing grace to others often comes in pieces. Nevertheless, it's a beautiful journey of trusting God and allowing Him to bring joy to our relationships.

MORE THAN A STUDIO

"Therefore go and make disciples of all nations."

(Matthew 28:19 NIV)

Throughout Scripture, God has often used ordinary places for extraordinary purposes.

A hillside became the setting for Jesus' Sermon on the Mount. A boat became a platform for teaching the crowds. An upper room became the birthplace of a movement that would carry the Gospel to the ends of the earth.

Again and again, God used physical spaces to accomplish eternal work.

Today, as The 700 Club Canada prepares for a new studio, we are reminded that this project is about far more than walls, cameras, lights, or equipment. It is about creating a place from which the message of Jesus Christ can continue to reach Canadians for generations to come.

For more than 50 years, God has used this ministry to share the Gospel, pray with those in need, encourage believers, and tell powerful stories of lives transformed by Christ. Every broadcast, every prayer call, every testimony shared has been an opportunity to point people toward the hope found in Jesus.

As we look ahead, the need for that message has never been greater.

Across our nation, people are searching for truth, purpose, and hope. Families are facing challenges. Communities are longing for encouragement. Many have never heard the Gospel presented in a meaningful and relevant way. Others once walked closely with God but now need to be reminded that He has not forgotten them.

The mission of the 700 Club Canada remains the same: to proclaim the Good News of Jesus Christ and demonstrate His love through prayer, encouragement, and discipleship.

The new studio represents an opportunity to strengthen that mission.

From this space, we envision sharing testimonies of God's faithfulness from coast to coast. Stories of answered prayer. Stories of changed lives. Stories of churches serving their communities. Stories of ministries reaching the lost. Stories that remind Canadians that God is still moving in our nation today.

The psalmist declared, We will tell the next generation the praiseworthy deeds of the LORD, his power, and the wonders he has done (Psalm 78:4 NIV).

That calling has not changed.

Every testimony shared strengthens faith. Every story of God's goodness becomes an invitation for someone else to trust Him. Every broadcast becomes another opportunity for a viewer to encounter the truth of God's Word.

The Apostle Paul wrote, How can they believe in the one of whom they have not heard? (Romans 10:14)

That question remains at the heart of our ministry.

We believe God has called us to continue finding creative and effective ways to share His message. Whether through television, digital media, social platforms, interviews, teaching, prayer ministry, or discipleship resources, our desire is to meet Canadians where they are and introduce them to the transforming power of Jesus Christ.

“Sharing the Gospel Until All of Canada Knows”—This new studio will help make that possible.

It will provide a dedicated home for producing content that encourages believers, reaches seekers, equips families, and amplifies God’s work across Canada. It will serve as a platform for ministry, helping us tell more stories, engage more people, and extend the reach of the Gospel farther than ever before.

Most importantly, it is a reminder that the mission continues.

The Great Commission was never intended for one generation alone. Each generation is called to carry the Gospel forward, ensuring that future generations hear the life-changing message of Christ.

We believe God will use this new studio as a platform to help carry the message of Christ farther across Canada, creating new opportunities to share the Gospel, strengthen faith, tell the stories of His faithfulness, and inspire the next generation of believers.

Thank you for standing with us in this mission.

And for those who would like to take part in helping make this vision a reality, we invite you to prayerfully learn more about our Studio Capital Campaign. Together, we can help create a ministry resource that will serve Canadians with the hope of Christ for years to come. Check out our website for more information:

Guard Your Heart

by SHIREEN SPENCER

Co-Host, The 700 Club Canada

When I think about a security guard, a lifeguard, or even a defensive sports position, I think about one who is tasked with making sure people are safe and no harm comes to them. It is their responsibility to protect, stand watch, and provide security—to handle disturbances or prevent the opponent from coming into their space.

In Proverbs 4:23, we are told, Above all else, guard your heart, for everything you do flows from it (NIV).

What we allow into the space of our hearts is our responsibility. We are tasked with letting in what pleases God and keeping out what displeases Him.

Guarding our hearts is about actively protecting our thoughts, emotions, desires, and will from sinful influences. We filter what we allow into our minds, focus on God’s truth, and maintain spiritual purity.

Guarding our heart does not mean having a closed heart, but being open to the work of God’s Spirit in our lives. We stay open to His love and leading, keeping our heart safe from harmful influences that prevent us from living in God’s love, joy, and peace.

In this world that is always throwing negative images, words, and experiences at us, how do we guard our hearts? Some clues from the Bible:

Pray continually (1 Thessalonians 5:17), memorise Scripture (Psalm 119:11), stay connected to believers (Hebrews 10:24-25), watch our speech (Matthew 15:11), pay attention to what we look at (Matthew 6:22-23, Psalm 119:37), be careful who we listen to (Romans 10:17, Matthew 7:24), and stand guard (Ephesians 6:13-17).

You are an equipped guard.
Stand your ground.

It Might Be Time: Updating Your Estate Plan for a New Stage of Life

Presented by Lorne Jackson

October 13, 2026, 8–9 p.m. EDT

To register, email:
register@advisorswithpurpose.ca

You created your will when your children were young, your priorities were different, and life looked very different than it does today. But if your children are now adults and your estate plan hasn't been revisited in years, it may be time to take another look.

This session will help you understand when an estate plan should be reviewed, common areas families overlook after children become adults, and how to approach planning conversations with grown children in healthy and productive ways. We'll also discuss practical updates that may help reduce future confusion, protect family relationships, and ensure your current wishes are clearly reflected in your documents.

Releasing God's Power Through the Gospel

By Gordon Robertson
President and CEO

On October 1, 1961, CBN went on the air with the simple purpose God gave my father, Pat Robertson: to proclaim the Good News of Jesus Christ.

Sixty-five years later, that calling remains at the heart of everything we do.

What happens when the Gospel is proclaimed? Paul tells us in Romans 1:16, For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God to salvation for everyone who believes.

The original Greek means that God's power is in the proclamation—expressing the Good News.

When you bottle it up and keep it to yourself, you stifle His power. But when you proclaim the Gospel, you release the power of God.

We do it tangibly by providing food, water, disaster relief, support for vulnerable children, and more. All of these things are wonderful.

And we also announce the Good News: "Yes, there is a Saviour. He died for your sins and rose again to give you new life. He wants to forgive you for anything you've ever done wrong. He wants to transform you, your family, your neighbourhood, your community, your city, and even whole nations."

This releases the unlimited power of Almighty God.

We aren't merely sharing words. We are proclaiming the wonderful truth that Jesus is alive. He saves us, forgives us, heals us, and delivers us. Through Him we can enter the presence of God.

As a faithful CBA partner, you are declaring that life-changing message to men, women, and children across Canada every single day.

Together, let's keep proclaiming Jesus, releasing the power of the Gospel into the lives of millions—until all of Canada knows! Thank you, and may God bless you.

Scripture is quoted from the NKJV.
